

Edward B. Douthett, Jr. is an assistant professor of accounting at George Mason University. Dr. Douthett's research interests focus on auditing and financial reporting in the private and public sectors. He has published a number of articles in academic and practitioner-oriented journals.