

Paul Copley is the Hantzmon and Wiebel Faculty Fellow and Director of the School of Accounting at James Madison University. He is the Editor of Research in Governmental and Nonprofit Accounting which encourages submission of academic-oriented manuscripts dealing with accounting and reporting topics by public sector and not-for-profit organizations. Professor Copley and John Engstrom are authors of Essentials of Accounting for Governmental and Not-for-Profit Organizations.