

4. Congratulations:

Texas Society Of CPAs Names Murphy Smith Outstanding Educator

---

Oct. 27, 2004 - L. Murphy Smith, professor of accounting at Texas A&M University, has been presented the Outstanding Educator Award by the Texas Society of CPAs. The award recognizes Smith's notable contributions to the field of accounting. Smith focuses his research on ethics, technology and international accounting. His work has been cited in various news media, including Fortune, USA Today and The Wall Street Journal.

Smith has long championed the need for ethics education and is nationally recognized for his work in ethics. He has given ethics presentations to numerous classes, continuing professional education programs for practicing accountants and national conferences. He has served on the Ethics Task Force for the Texas State Board of Public Accountancy and testified at a congressional hearing in Washington, D.C. regarding business and accounting ethics.