CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS: 2010 AAA Ohio Region Student Manuscript Competition

The student manuscript competition is open to undergraduate and graduate accountancy students at any Ohio university or college. Plaques will be awarded to the winners at Friday night's dinner during the 2010 Ohio Region AAA meeting. Winners are encouraged to attend the dinner as guests of the Ohio Region AAA.

Eligibility:

- Undergraduate: open to all full-time undergraduate students majoring in accounting at an Ohio institution.
- Graduate (Masters degree students): open to all full or part-time masters students in a graduate business program at an Ohio institution. Graduate students who are enrolled in a doctoral program are not eligible.

Prizes:

- Plaques will be awarded for the first and second place papers in both the undergraduate and graduate categories. Winners will attend the Friday night dinner for free.

Objectives:

- Undergraduate category: To encourage undergraduate accounting majors to engage in reading that goes "beyond the textbook," to critically examine an issue, and to develop their writing skills.
- Graduate category: To encourage research in some "frontier" area of accounting, where students are encouraged to form their own conclusions and to defend them.

Topic:

- Any topic related to accounting is acceptable. Due to recent proposals by Congress to strengthen the regulation of financial institutions, papers on this topic are encouraged but not required.

Evaluation Criteria:

- All papers will be blind reviewed and ranked on the following criteria:
 - Content: The significance of the issue(s) covered, the strength of defense for selecting the issue(s), the strength of analysis, and the merits of recommendations. (65 points)
 - Style: The organization, clarity or writing, grammatical accuracy, and technical aspects of the manuscript. (35 points)

Format:

- Any conventional style is acceptable.
- Papers should be double-spaced, with standard margins, using Times New Roman (or equivalent) 11-point type face with full justification.

- The title of the manuscript should appear on the first page of the text without the author's name or university.
- Papers should be no longer than 10 pages for the undergraduate category and no longer than 20 pages for the graduate category, not including footnotes and bibliography (unless the footnotes are placed at the bottom of each page).

Cover Page:

- Each submitted manuscript must have a cover page that includes:
 - o The title of the manuscript.
 - o The author's name, university, mailing address, e-mail address and telephone number (co-authored papers will not be accepted).
 - o The name of the faculty sponsor (each faculty member may only sponsor a maximum of three papers in any one of the above categories).

Submission:

- The manuscript should be submitted by the sponsoring faculty member.
- All submissions must be postmarked no later than March 1, 2010.
