Join Us for the 2021 Virtual Annual Meeting: “Be Courageous in the Midst of Challenge”

Please join us this year for the 2021 Virtual Annual Meeting and the Conference on Teaching and Learning in Accounting (CTLA). Taking advantage of the virtual world, we have moved some portions of this year’s meeting:

The Conference on Teaching and Learning (CTLA) will be held on July 8 and 9, which will allow us to more easily adopt what we learn into the fall semester.

We will then offer a variety of pre-conference workshops on July 29 and 30, followed by the Annual Meeting from August 2-5.

We hope that you will attend the Virtual Annual Meeting and Conference on Teaching and Learning in Accounting (CTLA) and help us to become an even stronger and more impactful association! Learn more about what we have planned for the 2021 Annual Meeting in this issue of Accounting Education News.

2021 Virtual Annual Meeting Welcome from AAA President Elaine Mauldin

It is my honor to invite you to the 105th Annual Meeting of the American Accounting Association (AAA) to be held virtually this August 2-5, 2021. The theme for this year's Annual Meeting is "Be Courageous in the Midst of Challenge."

We certainly have no shortage of challenges this year. As I began my term at the 2020 Annual Meeting, I summarized three major challenges facing the AAA: supporting Yvonne Hinson's transition as our new Chief Executive Officer, taking actions to become more inclusive and equitable, and the pandemic. In addition, the challenges we were facing prior to the pandemic have certainly not dissipated. The development of new technologies continues to have profound impact on how organizations, including universities, operate. Clearly, we are unlikely to return to "business as normal" but will develop a new normal that redefines what and how we teach and research. I am optimistic that we can meet the challenges if we work together, combining our individual skill sets.

Elaine Mauldin
2020-2021 AAA President

The Annual Meeting is a great place to improve our skill sets, find new ways of using our skill sets, and connect with new people that could provide us with diverse perspectives on problems we are interested in attacking. As pointed out to me in a recent conversation with a junior colleague, the Annual Meeting is uniquely the one time a year when you can "roam" around different interests and meet people with different perspectives that just might help you advance your own research and teaching interests. We are building some improved networking capabilities into our virtual platform this year to facilitate these interactions. In addition to research and teaching sessions, the Annual Meeting always includes dynamic and informative plenary and panel sessions that sharpen our understanding of current issues of the day. Keep an eye out for more details as we finalize the program.

Taking advantage of the virtual world, we have moved the Conference on Teaching and Learning (CTLA) to July 8 and 9, which will allow us to more easily adopt what we learn into the fall semester. We will then offer a variety of Pre-Conference Workshops on July 29 and 30 before the start of the Annual Meeting from August 2-5.

Our featured plenary speakers each day of the Annual Meeting bring a wide array of perspectives on topics concerning diversity, critical thinking, and how we can incorporate these ideas into accounting teaching and research. The Monday, August 2 plenary will feature Ashleigh Shelby Rosette from Duke University. She is Senior Associate Dean and Professor of Management and Organizations at the Fuqua School of Business at Duke University. In her primary area of research on leadership and diversity, she studies how stereotypes and bias provide a framework to better understand the diversity shifts in present-day organizations, especially for top leaders.

The plenary session on Tuesday, August 3 will feature this year's Presidential Scholar Jennifer R. Joe from the University of Delaware. Jennifer's research focuses primarily on the role of auditors as governance agents over corporate internal controls and financial reporting.

The Wednesday, August 4 plenary will feature Linda Elder from the Foundation for Critical Thinking and Center for Critical Thinking. She is an educational psychologist and a prominent authority on critical thinking who has taught psychology and critical thinking at the college level and has given presentations to more than 20,000 educators at all levels.

The Thursday, August 5 plenary will feature incoming 2021-2022 AAA President Robert D. (Bob) Allen of The University of Utah. Bob currently serves on the AAA Board of Directors as President-Elect. Bob served as the inaugural AAA Council Chair (2011-13). He is a member of the Auditing and Teaching, Learning & Curriculum Sections, previously serving as Chair of the Teaching, Learning & Curriculum Section (2010-12).

Learn More About Our Annual Meeting Speakers:

Ashleigh Shelby Rosette

Ashleigh Shelby Rosette, Ph.D., is Senior Associate Dean and Professor of Management and Organizations at the Fuqua School of Business at Duke University.

She is one of the foremost leading scholars on research that resides at the intersection of leadership, gender, and race. Her work has been featured in news outlets such as Forbes, CNN, The New York Times, MSNBC, Wall Street Journal, Time Magazine, Business Week, Financial Times, USA Today, The Huffington Post, and National Public Radio. Her research has been published in academic journals such as Academy of Management Journal; Organizational Science; Organizational Behavior and Human Decision Processes; Journal of Applied Psychology; Psychological Science; Journal of Experimental Social Psychology; Journal of Cross Cultural Psychology; Group Decision & Negotiation, and the Duke Journal of Gender and Public Policy.

In her primary area of research on leadership and diversity, she studies how stereotypes and bias provide a framework to better understand the diversity shifts in present-day organizations, especially for top leaders. Her secondary area of research, negotiations, complements the diversity considerations as a basic premise of her work is that an in-depth understanding of an array of negotiation skills must be understood and engaged to capitalize on the benefits of diverse experiences.

She was ranked as one of the Fifty Most Influential Business Professors by mbarankings.net, ranked as one of the Favorite Professors of the MBA Class of 2019 by Poets & Quants, received the 2019 PhD Project's Trailblazer Award, and is one of the most decorated teachers in the history of Duke University's Fuqua School of Business having received the Teaching Excellence Award of the Year a record-breaking twelve times.

In her current role as Senior Associate Dean of Executive Programs, she oversees the Executive MBA Programs, Executive Education, Global Teams, and Enterprise/Information Technology.

She received her Bachelor's in Business Administration degree and Master's in Professional Accounting degree from The University of Texas at Austin. She received her Ph.D. in Management and Organizations from the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University. Prior to her career in academia, she worked as a Certified Public Accountant.

Jennifer R. Joe, CPA, is the Whitney Family Professor of Accounting and the Cohen Family Director of Diversity at the University of Delaware. She earned her B.B.A. from Baruch College–CUNY and Ph.D. at the University of Pittsburgh. She is the 2021 Presidential Scholar for the Annual Meeting.

Her research focuses primarily on the role of auditors as governance agents over corporate internal controls and financial reporting. Most of her work exploits the experimental method and applies theories from social psychology to address decision-making problems in accounting. Her research is published in leading accounting and finance journals and has received national awards.

Jennifer R. Joe

She is a member of the The Accounting Review steering committee and editorial board, and is an editorial board member of Auditing: A Journal of Practice & Theory. In the past, she has served as an editor at Auditing: A Journal of Practice & Theory and on the editorial board at Contemporary Accounting Research.

Jennifer is a founding member of The PhD Project Accounting Doctoral Student Association. She has served on executive, conference planning, new faculty consortium, doctoral consortium, and research award selection committees for the AAA, the AAA Auditing Section, and the AAA Accounting Behavior and Organizations Section. At the University of Delaware, Jennifer is the Chief Diversity advocate for the Lerner College of Business, advisory board member of the UD Advance Institute, and chair of the Lerner College Promotion and Tenure committee.

Linda Elder

Dr. Linda Elder is an educational psychologist and a prominent authority on critical thinking. She is President of the Foundation for Critical Thinking and Executive Director of the Center for Critical Thinking. Elder has taught psychology and critical thinking at the college level and has given presentations to more than 20,000 educators at all levels. She has co-authored four books along with Richard Paul, including Critical Thinking: Tools for Taking Charge of Your Learning and Your Life, Critical Thinking: Tools for Taking Charge of Your Professional and Personal Life, and Twenty-Five Days to Better Thinking and Better Living. She has co-authored twenty thinker's guides on critical thinking and co-authors a quarterly column on critical thinking in the Journal of Developmental Education.

She came to the Center and Foundation for Critical Thinking in 1994 after completing a doctorate in educational psychology from The University of Memphis. Her interest in critical thinking stems from her concern that most of the problems in human life are caused by problems in human thinking. Her primary concern is to contribute to a world that is more just, more fair, more humane, not just for the billions of people living on the planet, but for other sentient creatures as well.

She began her professional career in 1983 at Youth Services, a non-profit organization concerned with helping troubled youth in Memphis avoid prison or juvenile detention. Through Youth Services she also taught independent living skills to low-income young adults. She then moved to Southwest Tennessee Community College to head up a program for displaced homemakers, which fostered skills of economic survival. She completed an MA degree in Psychology (1988) and the doctorate in 1990. After completing the doctorate, she began teaching psychology at the college level. It was at this time that she was introduced to critical thinking and began its study—in order primarily to reach her students at a deeper level.

Robert D. (Bob) Allen is Professor and David Eccles Faculty Scholar at The University of Utah, having served on its faculty since 1991. Bob currently serves on the AAA Board of Directors as the 2021-2022 President-Elect. Bob served as the inaugural AAA Council Chair (2011-13). He is a member of the Auditing and Teaching, Learning & Curriculum Sections, previously serving as Chair of the Teaching, Learning & Curriculum Section (2010-12).

Bob Allen

Bob has published widely in peer-reviewed journals including The Accounting Review, Auditing: A Journal of Practice & Theory, Accounting Horizons, and Issues in Accounting Education. He served as Associate Editor of Issues in Accounting Education, Editor of the Faculty Development Update for Accounting Education News (2011-12), and on the Editorial Board of Auditing: A Journal of Practice & Theory (2008-12).

With nearly 30 years' experience as a faculty member, Bob has been recognized nationally with academic awards for excellence in both research and teaching. Bob received the AAA/J. Michael and Mary Anne Cook/Deloitte Foundation Teaching Prize (2018, Graduate Category) and is a member of the Teaching, Learning & Curriculum Section Hall of Honor. Bob is also the recipient of the AAA/Deloitte Foundation Wildman Medal Award (2008).

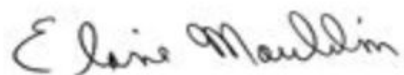

At The University of Utah, Bob recently served on the Senate Executive Committee (2016-19) and previously as David Eccles School of Business Faculty President (2017-18) and Director of the School of Accounting (2005-09). He served for 15 years on the Board of Directors of a U.S. bank, and gained professional experience with Deloitte, Haskins & Sells as an auditor, prior to obtaining his Ph.D. at Michigan State University (1992).

In addition to the above-listed plenary speakers, the concurrent sessions during the Annual Meeting will include some thought provoking At-Large panel sessions that we hope you can attend.

The Annual Meeting is always a major undertaking—whether in-person or virtual—and would not be possible without the incredible efforts of our member volunteers and the AAA Professional Staff. There are many challenges facing higher education and the accounting academy. The Annual Meeting offers a wide variety of opportunities for you and your colleagues to think about how we will meet these challenges and how they will impact your teaching and research going forward.

I hope you will all join us!

Elaine Mauldin
2020-2021 AAA President

The Annual Conference on Teaching and Learning in Accounting (CTLA)

July 8 & 9, 2021

What Is the CTLA?

Held prior to the AAA Annual Meeting, the Conference on Teaching and Learning in Accounting combines a hands-on teaching clinic, mentoring by experienced faculty, and strategies for staying current on emerging topics in accounting. Learn more about the CTLA by clicking HERE.

Who Should Attend the CTLA?

Whether you are an experienced faculty member, new to teaching, or a Ph.D. student, you are welcome to attend the CTLA!

What Happens at the CTLA?

Teaching, Learning, and Technology focused sessions including 50-minute interactive sessions, 20-minute teaching tip roundtables, and TED talk-like 10-minute poster talks/demonstrations.

Topics Include:

- Best practices in teaching,
- Integrating leading-edge technologies,
- Improving critical thinking skills,
- Assessing student learning,
- Motivating and facilitating learning, and
- Course-specific innovations.

How Can I Register for the CTLA?

Registration for the CTLA requires AAA membership. You may register for the CTLA only and not attend the Annual Meeting. Section membership may be selected as a membership add-on. Dues vary by section. Register for the CTLA HERE.

- Full Membership: $345, which includes all three AAA online journals (The Accounting Review, Accounting Horizons, and Issues in Accounting Education).

25th Annual Ethics Research Symposium

Accounting ethics and professional responsibility are at the core of the profession's obligation to serve the public interest and honor the public trust. Accounting ethics and professional responsibility research has never been more important. It plays a critical role in investigating causes and consequences of ethical practice and/or failure at the systemic, organizational, and individual levels.

The 25th Annual Ethics Research Symposium encourages thoughtful research on the ethical applications of teaching, practice, and/or business that ultimately benefits the individual, government, or society. Accordingly, we challenge researchers in other accounting areas to identify and address the ethical implications of their research.

The Accounting Exemplar award will be presented by the Public Interest Section. In addition, the Symposium will recognize other research including: Best Research Paper, Best Innovation for Teaching, Best Paper by a current doctoral student, and Best Paper by a recent graduate (graduation from a doctoral program must have occurred within the last 3 years).

Questions can be sent to the Ethics Research Symposium Co-chairs Lori Fuller (lfuller@wcupa.edu) and Tara Shawver (tarashawver@kings.edu).

Annual Meeting Call for Submissions Still Open

The final Annual Meeting Call for Submissions has a deadline of May 12, 2021:

- Faculty-Student Collaborations in Accounting (FASTCA-21) - *Submission Deadline: May 12, 2021
Encouraging exploration and discussion of collaborations between Accounting faculty and undergraduate and Master's students, this all-day conference recognizes the importance of these collaborations to creating important learning experiences for students, attracting students to the Accounting profession and the Accounting academy, as well as connecting the community of faculty conducting collaborative research and teaching. The following are some examples of faculty-student collaborations: (1) Research: Students and faculty working together on a research paper; (2) Teaching: Joint development of teaching materials by students and faculty; (3) Practice: Students and faculty working together to solve a real-world problem. Notification of acceptance will be June 1, 2021.

Read the full Call for Submissions and details on how to submit online today at:

AAA CAREER CENTER

As we all do our part and work together during these unprecedented circumstances, we want you to know that the American Accounting Association (AAA) is still working to make career connections for candidates seeking opportunities and recruiters who have active job postings.

American Accounting
Association
Career Center

While we made some changes to the Career Center at the Annual Meeting this year—there will not be a Career Fair or Interview Hall—we remain committed to advancing your career interests and connecting you with hiring institutions. We, as always, invite you to communicate directly through our job board, making connections as either a job candidate or recruiter.

The AAA Career Center, your trusted resource for career connections, is available year-round to match qualified candidates to the next step in their career progression!

Recruit for Open Positions:

- Post your institution's jobs, where the most qualified professionals will find and apply to them.
- Every online job posting includes a print ad in The Accounting Review.
- Email your jobs directly to job seekers via our exclusive Job Flash email feature.
- Search the resumé database and contact qualified candidates proactively.

Manage Your Career:

- Search and apply to the best jobs at institutions that value your credentials.
- A free resumé posting is a benefit of AAA membership.
- Upload your anonymous resumé so employers can contact you, but you maintain control of your information and choose to whom you release your information.
- Create a job alert - receive an alert every time a job becomes available that matches your personal profile, skills, interest, or preferred location.

If you have any Career Services questions please email Career Services Coordinator Mary Beth Gripshover at marybeth.gripshover@aaahq.org.

Take advantage of this opportunity at this year's Annual Meeting:

Preparing for the Interview Process Workshop

Workshop # 01

Thursday, July 29th, 10:00 am-12:00 pm EDT

This session is open to all Annual Meeting registrants interested in learning or reviewing skills that are helpful while going through the job-seeking process. Whether you are new to the job market or transitioning to a new career, our panel will provide insightful tips and take your questions.

There is no fee for this session. Registration is required.

CTLA-Only Cancellation Policy:

All CTLA-Only cancellations must be submitted in writing to info@aaahq.org. A refund of your Annual Meeting registration, minus a $50 administrative fee, will be given for cancellation requests received by Friday, June 18, 2021. No refunds will be given after June 18, 2021. Membership dues are non-refundable.

Payment Options

The AAA accepts American Express, MasterCard, and Visa. Checks made payable to the American Accounting Association are also acceptable.

Registration Changes

All registration inquiries and change requests should be submitted to AAA Member Services at info@aaahq.org or by using the change/add-on form, which is posted online HERE.

Register Online

- Click HERE to register for the Conference on Teaching and Learning in Accounting (CTLA).
- Click HERE to register for the Annual Meeting and Pre-Conference Workshops.
(Note: if you want to attend both the Annual Meeting and CTLA, you must register for both events separately. Your membership dues will be paid with the first event that you select.)
