Bill is the Credits & Incentives Leader for Deloitte's Sustainability, Climate and Equity practice. During 27 years of professional experience, Bill has worked in the areas of global tax credits and incentives, renewable energy finance, sustainability, corporate and passthrough taxation, M&A due diligence and strategic business planning.

In the area of sustainability, Bill advises clients on the identification and monetization of credits and incentives that may be leveraged in connection with their ESG strategies, to offset the cost of their ESG-related investments. Bill also advises clients on tax equity transaction structuring, due diligence and financial modeling, with a focus on Production Tax Credits and Investment Tax Credits for renewable energy projects. Bill has also advised clients on the HLBV accounting implications for tax equity investments, as well as structuring projects involving Carbon Sequestration Credits, Historic Rehabilitation Tax Credits, Low Income Housing Tax Credits and New Markets Tax Credits.

Bill has advised clients on tax-incentivized transactions representing over $15 billion of capital deployed into renewable energy, sustainability and real estate investments.
