Why YOU Need to Attend the 2024 Annual Meeting in Downtown Washington, DC!

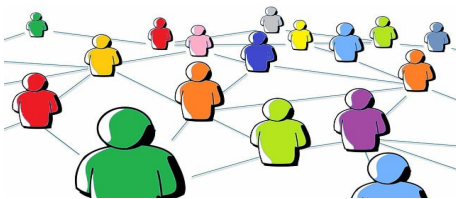

Learn...Share...Grow.

Keep abreast of current technologies and best practices for education and research at the various sessions, workshops, the Exhibit Hall, and special sessions like the Conference on Teaching and Learning in Accounting (CTLA), and the 28th Annual Ethics Research Symposium. Attending pre-meeting workshops is an efficient way to learn from master teachers and enhance your courses.

Engagement = Empowerment.

There will be a wide array of sessions available for you to make a difference. Engaging with accounting faculty, accounting professionals, and regulators will help you grow both professionally and individually, and solidify your position as a key contributor to the global community of accounting educators.

Networking Opportunities Abound.

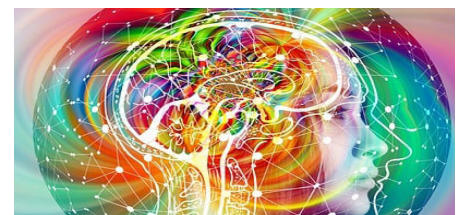

The Annual Meeting allows you to engage with other scholars and researchers, explore potential collaborations, and make lifelong connections with like-minded professionals. Meet new colleagues from around the world, reconnect with old friends, chat with various exhibitors, and participate in social events.

Professional Development for Days.

Earn continuing education credit for participation in workshops, presenting research, and attending sessions. You can earn CPE credits over the course of the main 3-day meeting. Additional credit hours can be earned by attending the pre-conference workshops, CTLA, and Section breakfasts and lunches that feature speakers.

Draw Inspiration from New Sources.

The plenary and lunch speakers are successful authors, dynamic presenters, and recognized thought leaders. Concurrent sessions allow for members to present their latest research and gain valuable feedback. Come and be inspired by professionals you're unlikely to see on campus!

Celebrate Successes.

Congratulate your colleagues during the award presentations that are made at the Annual Meeting—from the AAA, as well as individual Sections. Many of the recipients host sessions to share their expertise during the meeting.
