WS# 10 Accounting History Pathways: Topics and Methods

Join us in this spirited workshop sponsored by the Academy of Accounting Historians. A variety of research topics in accounting history will be presented, with an emphasis on sharing thoughts and perspectives. Participants will gain insight into research methods, data sources, classroom applications, and publishing possibilities. The session is open to those just beginning a research or teaching path in accounting history, as well as veterans in the field.

Intended Audience:

The intended audience consists of current and prospective accounting history researchers and anyone interested in learning more about the field. We highly encourage AAA members who are interested in hearing more about the Academy of Accounting Historians section to attend, as well as our veteran researchers.

Format:

The workshop will consist of presentations and interactive discussions among attendees. We particularly welcome new members to join the session and participate in conversations with experienced accounting historians.

Learning Objectives:

Here is an opportunity to learn more about accounting history research! After completing this course attendees will be able to

- 1) Understand publication opportunities in accounting history
- 2) Discuss areas of new research in the field
- 3) Appreciate potential ways of applying accounting history topics to classroom discussion
- 4) Identify various accounting history archives and databases.

Workshop attendees should expect open discussion on how to conduct accounting history research along with advice from veteran accounting historians with abundant publishing experience.
