

Call for Papers - Academic Track
26th XBRL International Conference
Dublin, Ireland April 16-18

The academic track at the 26th XBRL International Conference organized by XBRL International provides a platform for academics from around the world to present their established research projects and new research ideas. The academic track allows academics to receive feedback from the professional XBRL community and, in turn, inform the broader XBRL community. Papers, extended abstracts, and proposals should be submitted via conference website at <http://conference.xbrl.org> by Thursday, January 31.

For more information please contact track chairs Professors Stephanie Farewell, at stephaniefarewell@gmail.com or Glen Gray glen.gray@csun.edu. Full details of the 26th XBRL International Conference are available at <http://conference.xbrl.org>.
